YACHTSMEN OFF ON INLAND VOYAGE

Visiting Tars the Guests of Local on Auto Trip Around Oahu Today

Piloted by members of the Hawaii Yacht Club, the visiting tars who came here in the trans-Pacific race, started on a dry-land voyage of Oahu at 9 o'clock this morning. The party left the Young hotel at 9 o'clock, quite a procession of automobiles being required to take visitors and local.

The trip will be made via Schofield Barracks and Haleiwa, with lunch at the latter place. Stops will be made at one of the plantations on the way, and the mysteries of dividends in the raw explained to the Coasters.

Although the regatta committee has had no official reply to the circular letter issued some days ago relative to the Hilo race, there now seems to be a good prospect that the contest will come off, with the Lur-line, Hawaii and Molokai certain starters, and the Seafarer a possibility. Captain Lew Harris of the Lur-line is very keen to make the trip, and he has communicated some of his enthusiasm to the others.

"So far as the regatta committee is concerned, it knows nothing of the race," said Arthur Armitage, secretary of the committee, and its only member now in Honolulu, this morning. "It is quite likely that George Crozier will sail the Hawaii if she enters, but I know nothing officially. No one of the yachtsmen to whom I sent letters has seen fit to answer."

According to tentative plans, the race will start Wednesday, the day after Prince Cupid's luncheon. There will be no time allowances, and yachts racing on speed alone, and the first to cross the line being declared the winner.

SCHULTE AND COBB BARRED?

The matter of permitting previous winners of the Chalmers baseball trophy to compete in the future will be submitted to a vote of the Trophy Commissioners by Chairman Ren Mulford within the next few days.

Mulford has now had a general expression of opinion from all of the commissioners. The latest reports are from Tim Murnane, of Boston, and from C. B. Power, the commissioner from Pittsburgh.

"I am of the opinion that we should pass the honor along, so that in time we may have a baseball hall of fame that will really mean something," says Murnane.

Power is in favor of the plan to eliminate previous winners. "I heartily approve of the suggestion made by Mr. Parker. I think that one-time winners certainly should be eliminated," says the Pittsburgh Commissioner.

The consensus of opinion among the commissioners seems to be that all ball players, qualifying under the original rules of the Chalmers Trophy award shall be allowed to compete, however. A number of the commissioners have asked for opinions from leading baseball fans, from the players themselves, and from those students of the game. Most of these opinions seem to favor retaining previous winners in future competitors.

Favor Retention. It will remain for the official vote of the commissioners to decide just what action will be taken. At the present time, it looks as though Cobb and Schulte would be declared eligible for competition this year, the same as last year. As one leading authority has said:

"As long as a man can be a recent breaker, he deserves the credit of his performance. In the case of the Chalmers Trophy, so many things contribute to a man's standing that it does not seem likely a man can win the title of the best all-around player in his league more than one year, unless he stands out head and shoulders above the other players. If any player is so good that he deserves the title of the best all-around player for two, three or four successive years, it would certainly be unfair to give him only the title and make the major award to a player known to be secondary. Then, too, it should be considered that the man who wins this year may drop out of the competition for one or two seasons and then come back strong the next year. It certainly would seem unfair not to give full credit to a man who was able to make such a come-back."

ALAN O'BRIEN ONE OF THE SPEEDIEST WHEELMEN IN CITY

ALAN O'BRIEN.

One of the speediest wheelmen in Honolulu, in either the junior or senior ranks, is Alan O'Brien, who came to the front last month by winning the long junior grind from the Haleiwa Hotel to the Waikiki Inn. He rode a fast race and finished strong. O'Brien also took part in the Fourth of July bike races at Kapiolani Park, jumping in at the last moment without being prepared to ride, and finishing second in the two-mile event.

This fast youngster is a carrier for the Star-Bulletin, and gets plenty of training during business hours.

MAY SUTTON NOW CLAY COURT CHAMP

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 1.—Finals in the men's singles, women's singles and mixed doubles, as well as the challenge match for the championship, were played here today, concluding the tournament for the clay-court championship of the United States. R. Norris Williams of Philadelphia, former State champion, defeated Walter T. Hayes of Chicago for the championship of the United States in straight sets. Williams in the morning won the right to challenge Hayes by defeating G. F. Touchard of New York, 6-3, 9-7 and 6-2.

Miss May Sutton of Los Angeles won the women's championship, defeating Miss Mary Browne, also of Los Angeles, the former champion, in two sets, 6-4 and 6-2.

In the mixed doubles Miss Sutton and Frank H. Harris, the Dartmouth College champion, won the national title from Miss Mary Browne and Norris Williams. The match required three sets. The score was 6-3, 2-6 and 6-2.

TENNIS COMMITTEE NAMED—DAVIS CUP DATES SET

The committee that will have charge of the Hawaiian tennis championship tournament, which opens the 22nd of this month, has been selected, as follows: W. Thompson, Manoa; Guy Buttolph, Pacific; L. M. Jude, Neighborhood; A. L. Castle, Beretania; C. G. Boekus, at large.

The Davis international cup tennis match in New Zealand this year will probably be played in November instead of December or January, as heretofore. This is at the suggestion of the Australasian Lawn Tennis Association.

The British and French teams are to meet in the preliminary games in London early in July. Whichever wins will come to this country for the matches with the Americans the first of September. The winning nation will go to Melbourne and have three weeks' preparatory practice before the challenge matches.

KLAUS WINS ON FOUL FROM FRENCH CHAMPION

DIEPPE, Fr., June 24.—Georges Carpentier, the middleweight champion of France and England, and Frank Klaus, the Pittsburgh middleweight, met in a twenty-round match here today. Carpentier was disqualified in the nineteenth round.

Four teams of the Junior League made four errors apiece yesterday afternoon in the double-header that was played at Athletic Park in the presence of some 1000 spectators. It was in-and-out ball all the way through, but there was enough action to give the fans a run for their money, and to furnish a good afternoon's sport in the absence of any scheduled games of the Senior League.

The first game went to the Asahi Juniors, who took the long end of a 10 to 5 score from the Whites, after the latter team seemed to have the contest wrapped up and ready to take home. Pitching wildness was largely responsible for the result.

The closer, between the Athletics and J. A. C. Juniors, was a much better exhibition of the national game, although there was some loose play at times. The former won by a batting rally in the seventh and eighth, climbing out of the cellar and sending their opponents down.

HOW THEY STAND

The champion Athletics seem to be coming into their own again. In the great race that is being run in the American, Connie Mack's crowd have fought their way into second place, and are threatening Boston. Chicago is third, while Washington, the sensation of the circuit, falls the first division.

The Pirates are second in the National. It's nothing but a walkaway for New York, and real interest now centers in the race for second place. Vernon is pulling farther ahead in the Coast League, with the Oaks just keeping a nose in front of Los Angeles. The Northwestern League teams are spreading out, with Joe Cohen's Indians in the lead. A week ago a blanket would have covered the four leaders, but now the interval is greater.

Polo Teams Hard At It

INTERESTED SPECTATORS.

OAHU BLUES HAVE AN OFF DAY BUT BEAT THE REDS HANDILY

SATURDAY'S polo game between Oahu's first team and the fastest combination that could be drawn from the ranks of the other regular players was a rather disappointing exhibition, and did not show the Blues at their best by any manner or means. The result, 5-2 to 0, tells little about the play, for both sides missed many chances to score which, on anything but an "off day," would have resulted in sure goals. Both teams seemed demoralized, and at no time did either side get off on the right foot for a continued run of clean polo. There was a lot of bunching on the ball, and while there was some brilliant individual hitting to redeem the day, team work was conspicuous by its absence.

However, no matter how the Oahu team plays in practice, it is capable of putting up a very fine exhibition when its best efforts are called on in the coming tournament, which is only two weeks off.

"If the team was playing in top form now, I would be more worried than I am over this apparent slump," said Captain Walter Dillingham after Saturday's game, and at that he seems to have hit the nail on the head. There is plenty of time for the players to get together again, and if the team strikes twelve at tournament time, it will be better than if the maximum was reached now, with the consequent strain of keeping up the pressure.

Team of Veterans. The Oahu team this year is composed of veteran polo players, who are all most likely to play their best in hard matches. Sam Baldwin, Harold Castle, Walter Dillingham and Arthur Rice have all played the game for years and the first named three have played together in their respective positions for a long time. They know what to do and how to do it, even if they don't at all times practise what they preach, and the first match against the Maui invaders should see Oahu playing fast polo.

This quality of putting up the best article when it is most needed was shown in the matches with the Cavalry two months ago, when the Oahu four got together and played real polo from bell to bell. The team plays better against strong opposition than against manifestly inferior teams, for, instead of playing their own game and walking right through a weaker force, the players seem to be put off by their opponents' mistakes, and to get right out of their stride when the men playing against them fail to do the obvious. The Blues are strong against strength, but their play against weakness could improve a lot.

Reds Handicapped. At that, the Reds that lined up against the first four Saturday are by no means to be belittled. They proved a weak combination, but not a combination of weak players, and their failure to score was largely due to the fact that six players were cutting in and out, and that no sooner would one combination get going in some sort of form than it was broken up to make way for another. There was some fine hitting, and some showy runs, but far too much hanging on the ball for scoring purposes.

The Cavalry squad, consisting of Captain Forsythe, captain, and Lieutenants Sheridan, Hanson, Doak and Millikin, is camped at Moanalua and is practising hard for the coming matches. The Yellows aren't overlooking any points in preparatory work, and their showing in the championships is sure to be creditable, win or lose. They are hard at it every afternoon and seem to be hitting the ball harder than ever.

Following was the line-up of Saturday's practice game:
Blues—S. Baldwin, H. Castle, W. Dillingham and A. Rice.
Reds—D. Baldwin, Lieutenant Andrews, Arthur Jones, H. Dillingham, R. W. Shingle and Henry Damon.

NEW YORKERS LIKE PALZER

New York fight fans made a lot of capital out of the Palzer-Weiss event, and there are some in Gotham who believe that Palzer is capable of giving Jack Johnson a real fight.

Following is the story of the recent mill, as published in the Coast papers of June 28, under New York date line: Palzer sent the big beefy Bombardier to sleep in the third round of their go at Madison Square Garden tonight. Now the Western farmer is due to relieve Lili Arthur Johnson of the bother of taking round the heavyweight championship.

The outcome of the fight was not wholly unexpected by the huge crowd. Notwithstanding box seats brought $10 each, a series of new boxes had to be built to satisfy the fans. The galleries were all filled and people stood in the aisles. It is estimated that the receipts were in the neighborhood of $35,000, of which Palzer and Weiss will divide 50 per cent. There was very little betting on the bout, with Palzer favorite at about 7 to 5.

BROOKLYN OWNER IS SELF-MADE MAGNATE

C. H. Ebbets of the Brooklyn Club is a self-made baseball magnate. When the Brooklyn, owned by Byrne, Doyle and Abell, played at old Washington Park twenty-five years ago, Ebbets was a ticket seller and a schedule maker. He made up his mind even then to become the owner of the club some day and he never stopped trying. When the Brooklyn were consolidated with the rival Players' League team at Eastern Park, Ebbets was made secretary, and when C. H. Byrne died, he was elected president.

EVANS AND GREIG TIE AT GOLF

John Evans and J. I. B. Greig tied for first place in the novelty golf tournament, played over the Country Club course yesterday morning. The event was a flag competition, in which each player used up a certain number of strokes, and then planted a banner bearing his name at the spot where the ball rested after his final stroke was played. Evans and Greig, both holed out on the 18th green in their last shot, tying for first place. They tossed for the prize, and Evans won.

W. R. Grace was third, his ball coming to rest two feet from the 18th cup. That three players should finish so closely bunched in a competition of the kind, is quite remarkable. Twenty-four drove off, but about half of this number picked up their balls before the finish. It was exceptionally hot on the links, and some of the players, when hopelessly out of it, found the shade of the "nineteenth hole" more to their liking.

He held that office after the Brooklyn-Baltimore deal was consummated fourteen years ago, and gradually he bought up the stock until today he controls 90 per cent. of the club. Somebody asked Ebbets recently if he would sell the Brooklyn Club and he replied: "If I did what would I do to pass the time? Baseball is a life study with me and I would be lost without it."

THE SPORTING EDITOR SAYS, SEZ-ZE, ABOUT AS FOLLOWS:

BY LAURENCE REDINGTON.

Well, Duke Kahanamoku has done it. Of course we all knew that he would, but just the same, it's great to have the figures in black and white, and to let the whole world in on our three-star special.

There is much speculation over a press cable which arrived last night, which reads as follows:

"Owing to a misunderstanding regarding the semifinals in the hundred-meter swimming races, America may lose what she has already won through the efforts of Duke Kahanamoku, the wonderful swimmer from Honolulu. The misunderstanding appears to have arisen over the dates of the semi-finals. Efforts are being made to straighten matters out and it is possible that they will be successful."

The cabled accounts of Duke's record breaking performance Saturday did not say that it was a preliminary heat of the 100 meter race that the Hawaiian speed marvel won, but such was taken for granted to be the case, owing to the fact that there would be too large an entry list to swim a single race. What the misunderstanding referred to in the above Stockholm dispatch could possibly be no one can even guess. The whole thing sounds fishy, and reads as though only a part of the truth had been sent over the wires. It seems probable that Duke will have to swim the distance once or twice again before the colors of the winning nation are run, up, but there is little doubt that the Stars and Stripes will be the flag that flutters, and that Duke will be the man to send it aloft. If he can set a world's record on his first attempt, there is little cause to worry over the final outcome.

At that, Duke's performance is not quite up to the prediction made by his coaches just before he left the States, and even better things can be expected. George Kistler, who has been coaching Duke, and James Sterrett, another close student of the Hawaiian form, stated a few weeks ago that in their opinion he was capable of doing the 100 meters in 1 minute flat, which is 2 2/5 seconds faster than his performance Saturday. These men have watched his steady improvement and have held the watch on him time and again over all sorts of distances, so considerable weight attaches to their opinion. Duke isn't through yet by any means, and we'll here more good news from abroad before the American athletes tie themselves homeward.

Henderson Deserves Credit. There is one man right here in Honolulu who deserves a lot of the credit for Duke's victory, and who should be remembered when the latter's success is being discussed. I refer to Lew G. Henderson, who piloted the swimming expedition East last Spring, and who engineered all the preliminary arrangements for the champions stay and training between the time of the A. A. U. national championships and the date of the Amercan team's sailing for Stockholm.

Henderson pulled off two big things on that trip, that undoubtedly had a strong bearing on Duke's rapid development and ultimate success. In the first place, he got George Kistler, the veteran swimming coach of the University of Pennsylvania, interested in the Hawaiian, and in the second place he took Duke to his own home in Philadelphia, and arranged for him to stay there during the period which might have been one of the loneliest in the local lad's life. With the best of coaching, and kindly home life, Kahanamoku began to improve. Weakly, hesitantly, and unhappily situated, his natural style might have been hopelessly spoiled, and the heart entirely taken out of him. It is to Henderson then, that Duke in particular, and Honolulu in general, owes success.

More Records May Go. The splendid showing made by the other American athletes in the first day of the Olympic events, leads to the belief that the best is still to come, and that when Hornline, Gardner and some others get their final records will begin to go by the board. This has been a season of athletic surprises, and no one who has followed the sport of track and field dare say that the end is now.

Discussing the epidemic of record breaking recently, James E. Sullivan of the American Olympic committee said:

"I am ready to throw up my hands so far as the future is concerned. There never has been such a season for all around athletic success as the present one. We all expect a record to go here and there each year, but when they begin to fall in bunches, why, you can't blame the old timers if we just sit back and wait. As to the reason for this athletic condition, I think it can be divided into three classifications—first, better and more scientific training methods; second, the general growth of athletics in all parts of the nation and, third, the unusual amount of interest and training created by the fact that this is an Olympic game year."

"These, of course, apply to the particular and present epoch of record breaking. I am sure and have been for years a firm believer in the ability of the American athlete to lead the world in this line of sport. Some years ago during an athletic discussion by the Chicago A. A. Clubhouse, I. K. Baxter and Myer Phinsett, both Olympic honor men, asked me if I believed that a pole vaulter would ever clear thirteen feet and a broad jumper twenty-five feet. I answered yes. The pole vaulter has arrived in Gardner and I expect to see a twenty-five foot jump at Stockholm next month. Furthermore, the 9 2/5 seconds sprinter will arrive one of these days in the person of some big powerful athlete with the nervous temperament necessary for such a feat. He will be a high powered human mechanism, capable of hurling himself the full 100 yards at top speed from the second he leaves the starting point."

U. S. MARKSMEN M'LOUGHLIN IS BEST AT THE COAST CHAMPION OLYMPIAD

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 1.—The United States added today another line of victories by winning the clay-bird shoot competition. The Americans took first prize and gold medal, with a score of 532 out of a possible 600. Great Britain won the second prize and silver medal with a score of 511, while Germany was third with 510.

The best individual scores of the victorious American team were: J. R. Graham, Chicago Athletic Association, 94; Charles W. Billings, captain, 93; R. L. Spotts, Larchmont, Y. C., 90; J. H. Rendixson, Bergen Beach, G. C., 89; Frank Hall, New York Athletic Club, 86.

The individual army-rifle shooting competitions were started today. The competitors fire first at 300 meters and then at 600 meters. At the first range each competitor fires ten shots at a bullseye target, four prone, four kneeling and two standing. At the second range each man fires ten shots at a figure target, five prone and five kneeling. The time limit for each series is three minutes.

Procop, a Hungarian, led at the 300-meter range, with a score of 97. Lieutenant Carl T. Osburn of the United States Navy tied for second place with Norwegian and Greek riflemen with a score of 95. Sergeant Fulton of the British Army was fifth with a score of 87. In the shoot-off of the tie for second place, Lieutenant Osburn secured second prize with a score of 98. This score beats the total made by the winner, Procop.

Skogen, the Norwegian rifleman, was placed third, with a score of 91, and the Greek was placed fourth.

A. P. Lane, representing the United States, in the individual competition for revolver or pistol at a distance of 50 meters made a score of 439 in his sixty shots. The highest possible was 600.

Maurice McLoughlin is singles tennis champion of the Pacific Coast. He and Mel Long worked their way to the finals of the tournament recently held at Santa Cruz, but to the disappointment of all, Long was forced to default the titular round. "Mac" played an exhibition game against Tom Bundy, and the Southernerner polished him off to the tune of 6-3, 6-2. McLoughlin wasn't at his best, and had Long been able to play, and caught him in the same way, he might have had a good chance at the title. However, it is to be supposed that McLoughlin would have gone better in actual competition than he did against Bundy, when the strain of tournament play was over.

Following are the new champions of the Coast for 1913:

Men's singles, Maurice McLoughlin.

Women's singles, Miss Florence Sutton.

Women's doubles, Miss Helen Baker and Mrs. H. A. Niemeyer.

Mixed doubles, Miss F. Sutton and Nat Brown.

Junior doubles, Clyde Curley and H. V. D. Johns.

U. C. A. JUNIORS WIN.

In an exciting game of baseball played at Aala Park Sunday, the U. C. A. defeated the Nuuanu A. C. by a score of 10 to 8. Chuck Sal An of the winning team pitched a fine game, and the fielding and batting of the U. C. A. were excellent.
